

USDA ESTIMATES COST OF RAISING A CHILD EXCEEDS $21,000

How many dollars does it cost to raise a child to the age of 18? It depends on what section of the country you live in, how many there are in the family, the family's standard of living and many other variables, says Extension Specialist in Human Development Miss Barbara Fite.

But, Miss Fite notes that if prices remain the same as they were in 1969, it will cost about $21,050 to raise the average child who lives in a family of husband, wife and no more than five children, in a rural non-farm area in the South.

These figures are contained in a U. S. Department of Agriculture paper, "Cost of Raising a Child," prepared by the USDA's Agricultural Research Service.

Items in addition to food which they figured into the cost of raising a child are clothing, housing (his proportionate share of the family's total costs for shelter, utilities, furnishings, and equipment), medical care, recreation and similar miscellaneous expenditures.

There are many differences among costs relating to raising a child, adds Miss Fite. In general, it takes between 15 to 17 percent of a family's income to raise a child.

The total costs per year same rate over the 18 years to raise the child usually rise as much as 30 to 45 percent in clothing and food. And costs per child can be expected to decrease as family size tends to increase, but to turn upward when he is a teenager.

Girl's State
Representative
Is Selected

Three members of the Junior Class at Elba High School captivated members of the American Legion and Auxiliary on April 9th when they spoke before the group on "Why I Believe in America." Each asked to be chosen as a delegate to Girls State.

By secret ballot, Miss Harriette Bullard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy King, was chosen to represent Elba High School at Girls State.

Alternate delegate is Miss Jacky Smart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smart.

Second alternate is Miss Dixie King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy King. It is sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary and conducted by its members under the direction of Mrs. Walter W. Andrews, Jackson, Ala., who is a Past National President of The American Legion Auxiliary.

Girls State is a workshop to teach youth the principles of fundamental government at city, county and state levels. Girls States form their own governmental bodies on a two-party system and conduct their affairs for a week long session. While there, corresponding state office officials are elected. The elected Governor of Girls State will be given the privilege of occupying Governor Albert Brewer's office for a day at the Capitol conducting the business of State Government with her own cabinet and officials. One delegate from Girls State will be selected to attend Girls Nation in Washington, D.C., this summer.

Mrs. Lorene Bryan, Auxiliary President, and Mrs. Evelyn Reeves, Girls State Chairman, expressed appreciation to the young ladies for their participation and interest in our American way of life. Mrs. Reeves also says that Miss Bullard will be encouraged to seek election to any office of her choice while at Girls State and she asks the citizens of Elba to support her by writing letters and sending telegrams to her during that week.

Flood Survey
Underway In
Elba Now

Mr. Robert Marsh of The Elba City Planning Commission announced that survey parties from the office of COL. Robert E. Snetzer, District Engineer, Corps of Engineers, U. S. Army, will be in the area of Elba, within a few days conducting a flood plain study of Pea River, Whitewater Creek and Beaverdam Creek.

Then survey parties will complete field data essential to evaluation of the economic feasibility of providing channel improvements for flood control purposes. The biggest portion of these surveys will pertain to roads, culverts, and like public facilities; however, certain channel cross sections will require entry on private property. Mr. Robert Marsh earnestly requests the cooperation of landowners in the affected area in permitting entry to their lands by survey personnel.

There is a distinct possibility that flood insurance will be made available to the property owners in Elba as a result of this survey. Mr. Robert Marsh, Elba City Planning Commission, has been designated to work with the survey personnel. Therefore, property owners desiring any further information relating to this survey are urged to call Mr. Robert Marsh at 897-2981.

TURKEY HUNTING PRO'S... Lonnie Hattaway, left, and Denton Holmes, both of Kinston are shown here as turkey season closed with the gobblers they bagged about 4 p.m., Friday afternoon in Pea River swamp. This is the first turkey of the season for Mr. Hattaway and the fourth for Mr. Holmes.

Voting Machines Moved To Local Armory

All Elba voting machines will be located in the National Guard Armory for the primary election next Tuesday, according to Probate Judge, J. O. English. English stated that the Whitman told the group that due to the increase in registered voters and the wide interest in this election, the congestion and turmoil would be unbearable for the voters and the poll officials.

Also mentioned was the absolute lack of parking near the Courthouse annex and the fact that there is ample parking at the armory. This has been a problem in the past and the local police were already expressing concern over their ability to handle it on Tuesday.

Bloodmobile
Returning To Elba In May

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will return to Elba on Tuesday, May 19. It will be located at the West-side Baptist Church from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Due to cancellation of the January trip to Elba, the Elba Bloodbank is drastically low. Extra donors are urgently needed to make up for that missed during the January rash of sickness locally.

Local bloodmobile workers are saying, "Please help, we are in danger of losing our bloodmobile privileges in the near future."

Man Downed Trying To Save Sister's Life

A New Brockton man drowned while trying to save his drowning sister about 5 p.m. Sunday in the Pea River west of New Brockton.

According to New Brockton Police Chief Bill Skinner, Fred Wayne Adkinson, 20, New Brockton, was swimming in the river near Weeks Bridge, along with his brothers, sisters, and an uncle.

Adkinson drowned when he tried to save one of his sisters from the river. The uncle reportedly rescued the sister.

Rescue squads from Elba, Enterprise, Opp and Samson participated in the search for Adkinson's body which was not recovered until almost 10 p.m.

Funeral services were at 3 p.m. Tuesday at the New Haven Baptist Church near Elba.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred N. Adkinson, New Brockton; four sisters, Mrs. Glenda Sue Carr, Samson, Miss Linda Nadine Adkinson, Linda Diane Adkinson, Sandy Lynn, all of New Brockton; two brothers, Bruce and Karl, both of New Brockton; two grandfathers, Shelby Boutwell, Enterprise, and James B. Adkinson.

Verdict Upheld
In Local Circuit
Court Case

A hearing was held in Circuit Court on Tuesday of this week to determine if an error had been made in striking a jury in the Jackson case transferred to Elba from Dothan due to the adverse publicity received in Dothan. Four prospective jurors were challenged by District Attorney Lewey Stephens because they stated they would not give capital punishment.

The Alabama Supreme Court sent the case back due to a later U.S. Supreme Court opinion. The four jurors were summoned and Judge Eris Paul questioned each of them about their convictions. Defense attorneys also cross examined.

All four jurors stated that their convictions were so strong that "regardless of the facts in any case they would not give capital punishment to any defendant."

Under those circumstances, the guilty verdict was upheld and the case was returned to the Supreme Court for either further questions or confirmation.

Camp To Be Built By Alabama Jaycees

Alabama Jaycee Legal Associates of Tuscaloosa, Counsel Ernest C. Horns, Building Contractors, for by, who also doubles as the construction of the main Chairman of the Board and lodge building of Camp President of the Alabama Jaycee Foundation, announced today that a $53,000 contract had been signed with Campbell and night and weekend camping, and weekly camping for goals for the Camp set by the Jaycees are: to provide each retarded child with an opportunity for a satisfying experience in the outdoors in a camp environment just as normal children are special and would require certain special facilities in addition to regular outdoor camping facilities enjoyed by normal children. Among the

Role Of Light

Additional recent discoveries that light can be useful in the treatment of certain conditions has opened a new area of research into how our moods and our bodies may be affected by the lighting in which we live and work.

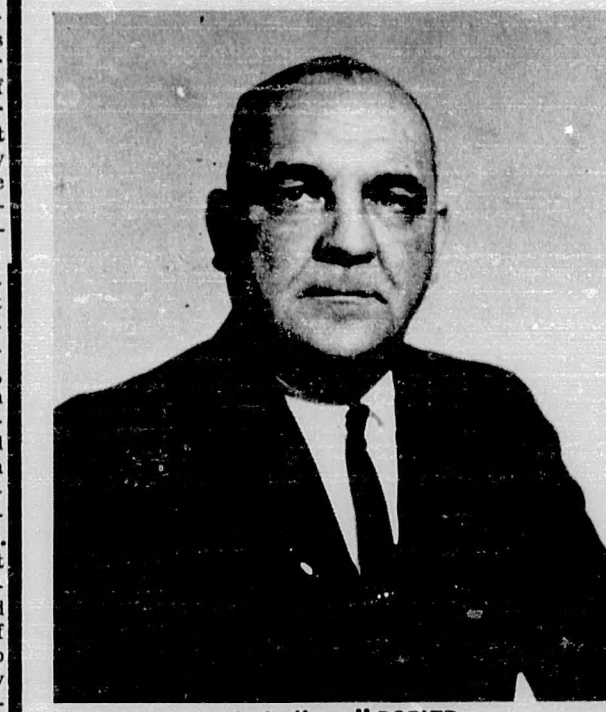

Light itself has become another thing that physicians must worry about in their quest for understanding all of the factors that influence our mental and physical health. It now is a part of human ecology and may rank in importance with air, water and noise pollution and undesirable substances in our food.

It is now recognized that both visible and invisible light influences a variety of processes in humans. It can generate disease in some persons, for example, those in whom sunlight produces skin eruptions. It also can be used therapeutically with certain diseases such as in the reduction of excess bile pigments in the blood of infants. Some physicians feel that current research into the effects of light can be likened to that of the early days of X-rays -- that the light to which people are exposed may be useful, dangerous or biologically neutral under certain circumstances.

Most Americans spend much of their time indoors exposed to artificial light that differs considerably from sunlight. The day may come when standards for indoor lighting will be established by the federal government.

Some of the things already determined include the fact that sunlight and light similar to it can change skin pigments, decrease blood pigments and activate vitamin D. A study currently underway suggests that sunlight increases the body's absorption of calcium. It is well established that light affects many factors in the body's metabolism. As an example, a recent study with rats showed that they matured sexually faster when exposed to sunlight than they did in an environment such as the common "cool-white" fluorescent bulbs.

One day last week Oscar Vaughan had me on the defensive. If it had not been that I might need to borrow some money some day, it would have been easy to just insult him and leave, but . . . Well, anyway, he didn't agree with something I had written here but concluded that it had about as much influence as a flea tackling an elephant! Thanks Mr. Banker.

This is just not my week with the Vaughans, Oscar's brother hurt his hip week before last and had to be hospitalized. Well, I call Glen my friend but didn't even go by to see him and his wife, Sally, said he was not too sick to be mad at me. Sorry Glen, but I am too busy telling everyone how to run their political campaign or how to vote. Glad you are home and doing better.

It is my firm opinion that Judge English and our County Commissioners deserve a pat on the back for going ahead with moving the voting machines to the Armory. That little room at the Courthouse Annex is too small and it seems to me that almost everyone grumbled about parking during the last election. For Peanut Farmers

April 30 has been set as the last day farmers can apply for Federal All-Risk fee, Dale, Geneva, Henry, Crop Insurance protection Houston, Pike and Jackson on their 1970 peanut crop.

Registration Necessary
For Men Age 18

State Director Hugh J. Caldwell, Jr., today issued a warning to young men home during the summer, that Selective Service registration is a necessary "But you do not have to come back to your home town to register with the draft," he pointed out, "the main thing to remember," he cautioned, "if you are registering away from home is to be sure to insert your correct home address on line two. This will insure that you will be under the jurisdiction of the local board in your county."

State Director Caldwell said that all local board clerks were again being cautioned to instruct new registrants of the importance of signing properly on line two of the registration form—SSS Form No. 1.

Whatever you list as your address under line two remains forever your Selective Service address," he said. "Therefore, make certain that you properly put your home town address there—not the address where you may temporarily be living during summer employment."

As school approaches the end of the 1970 year, Caldwell also reiterated that young men turning 18 years of age have five days in which to register. "This may be accomplished by going to any local board, anywhere."

Mrs. McDaniel Runs
For Place 2, PSC

Juanita McDaniel, an Andalusia native who is a former state government official, has announced as a candidate for Place No. 2 on the Alabama Public Service Commission, the seat that will be vacated in January of 1971 by Miss Sybil Pool, who is retiring.

Mrs. McDaniel is now the executive director of the Consumer Credit Counseling Service of Alabama, a non-profit agency engaged in helping delinquent families to recover financially.

"I do not look upon the Public Service Commission as a 'judicial' agency," Mrs. McDaniel said, adding:

"The times demand that our Public Service Commission respond to the consumer's needs, and that shall be my one goal as a member of the agency which regulates the utilities and other corporations that serve all the citizens of Alabama."

Juanita McDaniel first entered government in 1955 as executive assistant to the State Auditor and later as Chapter No. 189 Order of the Eastern Star, a past President of the State Treasurer.

Juanita McDaniel is the daughter of the late Steve McDaniel, a former 8th District Representative for the Alabama House of Representatives. She is a member of the Morningview Baptist Church and in 1963, was selected one of the TOP TEN Business and Professional Women in Montgomery. Her mother is Mrs. H. C. and Robert Glenn McDaniel. The latter two are students to Glen McDaniel, of Montgomery. Her husband is a civil engineer at Maxwell Air Force Base. The McDaniels have three children: Mrs. Robert Twigg, Glenda K. McDaniel, and Robert Glenn McDaniel. The latter two are students in Montgomery schools.

Highway Patrol Issues Report For Past Week

From 6:00 p.m. Friday through 12 mid night Sunday, the Alabama Highway Patrol investigated 168 rural traffic accidents. In these accidents 70 persons were injured and 7 were killed. The fatalities occurred in the following counties: three in St. Clair, and one each in Hale, Montgomery, Henry, and Marengo. These accidents bring the number of people killed in Alabama this year to 246 compared with 276 killed during the same period last year. This is a decrease of 30 fatalities. The eight county Dothan district troopers investigated 12 accidents with 5 injuries and one fatality. The traffic law violations

Services Held Monday For Lillie Boutwell

Mrs. Lillie Boutwell, age 76, died Sunday in the local hospital. Funeral was at 3 p.m. Monday from Basin Baptist Church. Burial was in Evergreen Cemetery, Elba. Hayes Funeral Home directing.

Survivors include one son, Clifton Boutwell, Elba; one daughter, Mrs. Virginia Barlow, Elba; one sister, Mrs. Catherine Boutwell, Elba.

Metcalf said, "We should remove the tax on medicine. In Alabama we have to pay a tax on medicine and on hospital supplies. It is wrong. Taxes on sick and infirm people in our state must be removed."

The senatorial candidate, a former state revenue commissioner and two-time state senator said inflation has hit our people hard. "We shouldn't be taxing the sick and infirm when our people are having a hard time making ends meet, when they are hospitalized, he said."

Metcalf said he favors removal of all state sales tax on medicines and hospital supplies. He said his plan will save a part of the emergency money of our working people at a time when they need that money most. It would be like adding dollars to a family's income when the family needs it most.

"As state senator of the 22nd district, my first act will be to introduce a bill to take the tax off sickness. Every citizen will be helped at a time when he needs help most. There must be no tax on medicine for a sick baby, a breadwinner of the mob or a senior citizen on a fixed income."

by GEORGE ANDREWS
Member of Congress
Third District of Ala.

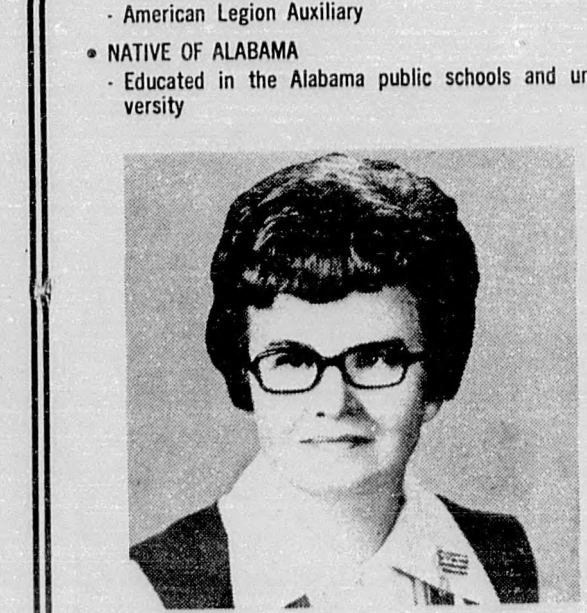

The Senate amendment simple statute base their lowering the voting age to case on an incredibly 18 shares a common evil liberal interpretation of the with the 1965 Voting Rights Fourteenth Amendment. They contend that "equal both trample on the rights protection of the laws," of the states. It is hard to imagine that anything could worsen the Voting Rights Act, which remains a weapon to bludgeon a few Southern states line by taking away denied "equal protection" their Constitutional powers in determining voter qualifications and conducting elections. Yet, many in Congress have decided that they, and not the several states, can determine voting age qualifications. They make such a decision, in spite of Article I, Section 2 of the Constitution, which clearly states that the electors for the House of Representatives shall have the same qualifications as the electors of the most numerous branch of the State Legislature. The Seventeenth Amendment, which provides for the direct election of Senators, restates the point that the states, and not the federal Congress, determine voter qualifications. Since the power to change voting requirements belongs to the states, the only proper way to lower the voting age is by Constitutional Amendment. Three amendments affecting voter qualifications have already been added to the Constitution. In addition to the Seventeenth Amendment, the Nineteenth Amendment guaranteed women's right to vote, and the Twenty-fourth Amendment eliminated the poll tax as a requirement for voting. Proponents of a voting qualification change by process for a reckless alternative, born of emotionalism and political expediency? I should hope not. Aside from the improper approach to changing the voting age, there is little evidence to prove that the idea has nation-wide approval. Forty-six states now have the 21-year-old minimum, and some 20 states have considered and rejected teenage voting in the recent past. Eleven states will vote on the issue this year. The question before the bar is shall we junk the tried and true amendment

File Social Security Claim By Telephone

"You can now file your social security claim by telephone," Harry N. Scott, Dothan District Manager, said today. Mr. Scott stated that this procedure called "teleservice" is the latest step in Social Security's continued efforts to provide fast, efficient and personal service to its claimants and beneficiaries. "We feel," he stated, "that many people delay filing their applications because of lack of transportation, difficulty in getting to the office, or other reasons."

"Remember," Mr. Scott said "this service is not limited to local residents, but is available to anyone in the Wiregrass Area. It is also not limited to social security claims, but people may call us at any time with questions, to make social security matter."

The social security office is located in the Federal Building, 100 West Troy Street, Dothan, Alabama. The telephone number is 794-3161.

Under this new method, a person merely has to phone the office and state that he wishes to file an application. We will obtain information over the phone, advise him of what evidence is needed, and mail the application for his signature. If he wishes, he may write to us, advising where he can be reached by phone, and we will telephone him at our expense.

FOR STATE TREASURER
Subject to Democratic Primary, May 5, 1970YOUR VOTE AND YOUR SUPPORT
WILL BE APPRECIATED

Widow of G. Lamar Baggett, a war veteran. Employed in legal division of L. & N. Railroad. Stenographer and file clerk, chief clerk, first assistant in your Secretary of State's Office. Active member of Women's Clubs, American Legion Auxiliary, OES, and on the Board of her Church. A proven record of efficient service as your Secretary of State, Auditor and State Treasurer.

During Mrs. Baggett's present term of office as State Treasurer she put into effect and administered a 1967 law requiring banks to pay interest on State deposits. Her successful administration of this law has already resulted in the general fund of Alabama receiving over $8 million. She has insisted that as interest rates rise the banks pay the State more interest. This has led to a bonus for the general fund.

Once again, we'd like to use this column to salute the American Red Cross and the wonderful job it is doing for servicemen throughout the world. Wherever you find GI's, you'll find a Red Cross representative on hand to help them with whatever personal problems that might come up. If mail from home is slow to come, the Red Cross representative will wire the hometown chapter to find out if all is well with the soldier's family. It's usually the Red Cross representative who breaks the news to a soldier when there is a new arrival in his family. And it is the same Red Cross rep who arranges a speedy trip home for a soldier when there is a serious illness in his immediate family.

ICE... Preferred First aid Treatment For Burns

Most persons are unaware of the preferred first-aid treatment for burns and are still using ineffective and sometimes dangerous applications of ointments, oils, and greases.

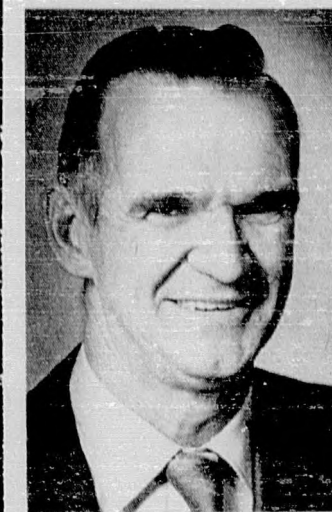

A preferred treatment—proven and established several years ago—is the use of ice or very cold water compresses continuously for at least 30 minutes and started as soon as possible after the burn takes place.

The results of the immediate application of cold are astonishing to first-aid time users. It eliminates the pain and prevents the formation of blisters. The most common error in using ice or ice water compresses for treatment is to apply them for too short a time. They should be used for at least 30 minutes.

Seven things to remember when you vote on Tuesday!

1. George Wallace has done more for Alabama than any man in this governor's race and he will again!
2. George Wallace wants to be your governor and will give you four years of uninterrupted on-the-job leadership.
3. George Wallace has the experience, strength and know-how to come to grips with the problems and opportunities facing Alabama and will make it a better place to live!
4. George Wallace wants to complete the programs of Lurleen Wallace which have laid untouched since 1967, although the money has been available on such programs as the $43 million dollar park program and the $15 million dollar mental health program.
5. George Wallace has outlined in detail a imaginative program for the 70's to improve of life of every Alabama citizen without taxation.
6. George Wallace has had the courage and vision to lead rather than follow and he will continue to stand up for Alabama in regional and national affairs.
7. George Wallace makes you the promise that when he is governor, no liquor will be served in the mansion and the mansion will be open to the public at all times.

Remember, if out-of-state forces and in-state bloc voters defeat Wallace, we all lose! Our voice is gone, our fight is over.

George Wallace stood up for you again and again. He needs your help now! Don't turn your back on him!

Brewer Gives Us A Sense Of Possible,
Taste For Better Future For Children

"Brewer has given us peace and a governor who is willing to work...here in Alabama to help solve people's problems."

Sensing that in George Wallace there was a man of great talent for political leadership, this newspaper endorsed his candidacy for governor in 1958 and in 1962.

The question was the same then as it is now: for whom does state government work? Is it the power company, the telephone company, the gas company and big newspapers?

This is the central question in every governor's race in this particular state because the great aggregate of our people cannot afford as many of the services of government as those in other states.

Families in Alabama are supported on incomes that are less than the wages earned by families in all but two other states.

Alabama's rank of 48th in per capita income means we are all losers: the people, the schools, the many other services of government, even utilities and big newspapers.

We can't have better schools or buy the electricity to work central heating and cooling systems in our houses if we can't afford them. Our people can't have satisfying lives as long as we don't make enough to afford them.

So, in 1962 we turned to George Wallace as a man who could change these depressing figures. We overlooked his quixotic battles with meek enemies in his exciting campaign believing him when he told us face-to-face that those speeches were "just politics."

We looked for something real from him, something you could close your hand on. We looked for a governor who would place the tax burden on those most able to afford it, a genuine leader to develop our talents and improve the lives of our people.

But after the speeches were over and he had seized the mass of power we found he had betrayed us. That has happened before and matters little because we are only one newspaper.

What we cannot forgive is the fact he betrayed the very "little people" who believed him when he spoke to them, spoke with such strength, simplicity and confidence that his words held out the real promise of escape from some predicament pressing down on their lives.

This we cannot forgive: —He put the burden of taxes on the people who could afford them least. It is the molder making $85 a week — not the power company executive making $1,000 a week — who hurt when auto tags went from $3 to $13, when the driver's license fee was doubled, when sales tax was piled upon sales tax.

—It is the wage-earner's wife who feels the bite from sales taxes which, with Wallace's help, now make up 35.4 per cent of all taxes collected.

—The bank president and corporation executive pay their share only through income taxes.

Wallace knew income taxes account for only 12 per cent of the state budget and corporation taxes only six per cent. Why did he let them off in favor of adding burdens on the young couples starting a family, the old people on fixed incomes and the millions of plain people he claims to champion? How can he explain that?

What did he give the plain people of Alabama in exchange for a heavier share of the tax burden? Did he replace the old way with something of value? Did he give us new industries with high-paying jobs for instance?

Here again the record is not what he claims. During his first four years in office — according to figures compiled by the states themselves — Alabama was at the bottom of all the other Southern states.

The percentage increase in new manufacturing jobs for those four years was 23.4 per cent in Tennessee, 23.2 per cent in Florida, 19.2 per cent in Georgia and 17.4 per cent in Mississippi. Why did Alabama fail to do as well as the four states surrounding it?

Instead of industrial progress we were getting years of unparalleled turmoil which made the lives of local officials a living hell, grappling as they had to not with political issues but with the reality of events.

We have had no government but one long, unending political campaign. Wallace promises us more and calls it a movement. But how can a movement exist which two years before was repudiated by 70 per cent of the South and 95 per cent of the people of the rest of the nation?

There was, of course, some progress during the Wallace years. But he was not alone in proposing effective action like the trade school and junior college program.

The governor proposes but the Legislature disposes. An invaluable friend of progressive state legislation helped guide these measures along the difficult route from an idea to a reality.

First as speaker of the house of representatives and then as lieutenant governor and now as governor it is largely due to the leadership of Albert Brewer that these ideas were fleshed in executive fact.

Life teaches a man his politics. Albert Brewer learned how such programs turn on the lives of people, opening opportunities withheld. He learned as the son of a Decatur electrician who had to work his way through school.

He shows he has not forgotten in ways that count. He has worked overtime adding $100 million to our schools, showed brilliant instinct for the functioning of government in his reorganization of the executive department and he still remembers for whom government works in Alabama.

We believe him when he says there will be no sales taxes as long as he is governor. We believe him because he told the Legislature he would veto one if passed, and his last major tax bill was an income tax measure — aimed at the people and institutions who can best afford to pay.

Wallace has given us turmoil and asked the man who works for hourly wages to pay the bill. Brewer has given us peace and a governor who is willing to work, really work here in Alabama to help solve people's problems.

And, Brewer, has asked the people and powerful institutions who have known good luck and financial success to shoulder more of the tax burden.

But, he has given us more. He has given us a sense of the possible, a taste for a better future when Alabama is not 48th but — at last — on its way to first.

Apparently that is what the students at Jacksonville State University sensed and those at Anniston High School when they chose Brewer in straw votes by overwhelming numbers, seven to two and six to one.

There have been approximately 40 similar votes taken in high schools in the tier of counties north of Birmingham and they all are the same. They show 60 per cent for Brewer and 20 per cent for Wallace.

Wallace says, "Give us back our children." The children say, "Give us Brewer for governor."

Who will we listen to? We will listen to the school children and vote for Brewer.

After all, they are our children and it is their future.

Window Shades Prominent In Today's Trends

With today's modern trends, window shades are especially prominent. Extension Home Furnishings Specialist Miss Alice Peavy says picture windows and extensive use of glass create extra glare on bright days and create a lack of privacy at night. Shades also may be used as room dividers and storage walls in small efficiency apartments.

Shades can be harmonized with cornices, curtains, furniture, wallpaper and shutters, adds Miss Peavy. Shades should be colorful, not drab. Trims can be added. They can also be stenciled with textile paint and applied with material. Also, fabrics to match furniture, draperies, cafe curtains or bedspreads can be laminated on shades.

Today's shades are made of materials that are fire-resistant, sun-resistant, washable and practical for every room and type of window in the house.

Miss Peavy says some of the new materials include washable and flame-resistant cotton duck, coated with vinyl for long wear and easy maintenance.

Cotton moire, which resembles silk, is washable as well as sun-and-flame resistant.

The specialist explains that translucent shades made of fiber glass combine durability and washability with the extra feature of filtering light where it is wanted.

Some new shades are also coated with insulating particles to keep rooms cooler in summer and warmer in winter.

Deep planting of camellias and azaleas is a major reason for poor growth of these plants.

Going?

A familiar sight... men with briefcases daily through airports all over the nation, winging their way from one place to another. But where, really, are they going?

In this busy age of appointments, rush hours, and summit meetings, we search for success, for more money, for a better future, for a variety of things. Yet, like so many mid-twentieth century Americans, the harder we seek the less we find.

We need a job, a purpose, a home, a family. But also, we need a church. We need to go into that church to reaffirm our faith both in God and in our fellow beings. Only then does our quest — and our ultimate destination — begin to make sense.

WOULD YOU GIVE A VOTE TO IMPROVE COFFEE COUNTY GOVERNMENT?
I BELIEVE YOU WILL. YOU CAN DO SO BY VOTING FOR

FOR JUDGE OF PROBATE

MAY 5, 1970

To The People Of Coffee County

I have enjoyed going to all areas of the County seeing as many people as I could in the limited time of one month. I am truly sorry that I could not see everyone but that is impossible.

I can truly say that my qualifications and my platform have been read all over the County. I think it is couched in language that everyone can understand. I ran across one man who had really understood it because he told me that he was against everything that I was for. I thought he would at least be for the picking up of the trashy material along side of a good number of our roads. Evidently he is against that. The majority of the people are for improvement in County Government and I believe you will see that when the vote is counted.

I have found that the people do want to know what a candidate is for in the form of certain specific improvements. They have had enough of generalities. I am still having a general outline of my platform in this paper on this date.

I have never contended that I covered all of the pertinent issues in my platform but the ones I have covered are basic and not only that they do not call for any new taxes. In fact they will save money.

The Unit system for road building not only will save a minimum of $100,000.00 per year but will enable the County to give better service to everyone.

When I took the job of County Engineer in Jan. 1964 I told the Commissioners Court that I could save that much money if they would only let me. I was never allowed to do this. I would ask you if you could have stood $100,000.00 a year in additional service over the past six years? I know you could have. Do you think a candidate should stand for something specifically or issue a bunch of generalities? I can endorse generalities, but I don't think that they improve County government.

I have attended most of the political rallies in the County and have read each of the candidates ads in the newspapers and I have failed to find talk of improving County Government except in what I have said for everyone to hear and everyone to read. From all I know I would have to assume (you can do your own assuming) that every candidate in this race is for the status quo except me. If we don't progress we will regress. You can not run your home, farm or business as you did twenty years ago. I know, as I was County Engineer twenty years ago.

I believe you will agree with me that the politicians are underestimating the intelligence of the people. All people are better educated than they have ever been in the history of mankind regardless of formal education. They understand the issues and they want to get the full benefit of the tax dollar. I find that most people just want to be treated as their neighbors are treated. Who could ask for more? When you build roads and bridges on a priority basis to serve the most people and not the most politics and give the people a vote on the main issues how can you lose politically or any other way? I believe in that and I believe you do too. Lets show the professionals what we think of generalities.

How do you like our Court Houses? How would you like to vote on whether we will have one or two? Do you ever take your out of town visitors down to admire either of our Court Houses? The people in the adjoining Counties do. Everyone in this race ignores this issue except me and personally I think I have picked up votes because I have the courage to discuss any issue with the people. I will not be a "No Comment" Probate Judge. You will always know where I stand.

How do you determine the will of the people? I think that you do it by discussing the issues with the people and letting them know how you as a candidate stand on the various issues. If no one brings up anything then the people can only guess as to what a man will do when he gets elected. Do you want to determine the holder of the highest administrative office in Coffee County on personality or generalities? I don't think you do. You certainly have a choice and we will certainly determine the will of the people when this thing is over. If I am your choice you can rest assured that I will not have any trouble doing what I have said that I will do as the four people who are your present Commissioners will know what the will of the people is and they will act accordingly. I know those four men better than anyone in the County and

I have never seen them turn anything down when they thought the majority of the people wanted it.

We have had the duties of the Probate Judge published twice in the papers of the County and they are many and he should know all of them as outlined. However, I personally think that the greatest duty of the Probate is his ability to lead. Most of the duties in the Probate office are done by a chief clerk and his assistants. The Probate Judge must first of all be a moral man. That isn't all he must be. He must be a man of wide experience, he must have the ability to plan for the future, he must not only have initiative but be a person who keeps up with all phases of business and Government. In other words he must be a leader. He must be one who not only wishes for good Government but will actually put all his energy and brains to work to see that we get good Government. In fact if we will only have good Government in all 67 Counties we will find it so much easier to have good State Government.

I do not under estimate your intelligence as I know you will understand everything I have said.

Let me repeat,
"LET'S GET OUT OF THE 19th CENTURY BEFORE THE 21st GETS HERE."

RECOMMENDATIONS RELEASED FOR VA

Prompt action to carry out recommendations of the President's Committee on the Vietnam Veterans was reported by Donald E. Johnson, Administrator of Veterans Affairs, who chaired the committee.

The committee report, approved and released by the President on March 28, 1970, contained a number of specific recommendations relating to jobs, education, and loans for Vietnam era servicemen and veterans.

Serving with Johnson on the Presidential committee were the heads of four cabinet level departments (Defense, Labor, Health, Education and Welfare, and Post Office), the Civil Service Commission and the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Already issued is a Presidential executive order making official the committee's recommendation to authorize Federal agencies to appoint qualified Vietnam era veterans to jobs up to GS-5 level (starting at $6,176) without regard to Civil Service registration procedures. The veteran undertakes a program of education and training.

Four other of the committee's 15 specific recommendations require legislation, and bills have already been proposed to Congress by the Administration.

Allow the Veterans Administration to underwrite financing for mobile homes to assist veterans who cannot afford conventional homes.

Assist minority entrepreneurship through a combination of Small Business Administration loans and cooperative G. I. Bill education to assist Vietnam veterans who do not have the financial capacity to start or expand a business of their own.

Allow VA to make advance payments under the G. I. Bill so veterans will not be stymied by the large financial outlay required initially to enroll in most schools.

Allow men still in service to enroll under the G. I. Bill after serving six months (rather than two years as presently required).

Public Law 91-219 (which was signed by the President about the same time as the committee's report was released) makes this provision for educationally disadvantaged servicemen without charge to their future G. I. Bill entitlement - as the committee recommended.

Two other committee recommendations were embodied in PL 91-219.

One drops the bar against the duplication of educational and training benefits. The most significant action affected by the bar involves the Manpower Development and Training Act (MDTA) programs. Lifting this restriction allows made by the President's Committee on the Vietnam Veterans.

The VA and the Office of Education (HEW) will set up a clearing house and provide other assistance to allow veterans to enroll in school promptly.

The Office of Education and the VA will also work with the educational community in developing additional programs for educationally handicapped veterans.

Civil Service recruiting at military separation centers and Veterans Assistance Centers (USVACs) and through community action agency programs, will be intensified.

The Defense, Labor and HEW Departments will use the Manpower Development and Training Act Skill Centers near major Defense separation bases to furnish education and vocational training.

Labor and Defense and other agencies will link with the Labor Department's system of competitive job banks to match manpower need with the skill of veterans seeking employment.

The VA and the Department of Defense and Labor will develop a program to more fully utilize skills in related civilian occupations and conduct a survey to identify major roadblocks to transferring military skills to civilian jobs.

Defense, Labor and VA will develop a cooperative program of civilian career counseling for servicemen, particularly those with educational deficiencies.

The VA will develop additional on-the-job training and cooperative education programs in areas which serve a public need or provide vocational outlets for veterans for whom institutional training is not suitable. The Department of Labor will include returning disadvantaged veterans in its new Public Service Careers program.

ELECT
I. B. STONE
Candidate For
State Board of Education
District Three

Subject: Democratic primaries of May 5 and June 2, 1970.
The future of Alabama lies in the education of our youth. I pledge to every Alabama child my best effort for QUALITY EDUCATION.

I. B. STONE
As Your Member on the Alabama Board of Education, I pledge:

- To support local control of our schools, and to preserve public confidence in education.
- To support continued growth of the Junior College system, offering a college education to thousands who could not otherwise afford one.
- To support extension of the Trade Schools, providing technical training for Alabama youth to acquire higher skilled jobs in a space-age economy.
- To support higher salaries for educators, in order to attract and hold good teachers who now leave Alabama to teach in other states.
- To be a voice of the people on the State Board, and to be keenly interested in a better tomorrow for Alabama's youth through—

QUALITY EDUCATION!
(Pd. pol. adv. by I. B. Stone, Alexander City, Ala.)

CITIZEN

How Would You Like:

- To be left spread-eagle at night in the jungle to the mercy of jungle insects.
- To be beaten with sticks for refusing to condemn the United States.
- To be tied behind a water buffalo and dragged through the bushes.
- To be kept in a pitch black room for more than a year.
- To be hung from ceiling by the arms.
- To be tied with ropes until they cause infected scars.
- To be burned with cigarettes.
- To have your fingernails ripped from your hands.
- To have bones broken again and again.
- To be fed very little rice and unknown vegetables which infest you with internal parasites.
- To have no mail in or out.
- To be blindfolded and stoned.

This is precisely what is happening to our military men who are prisoners of the North Viet Nam war. While we were enjoying bacon and eggs this morning, many hundreds of our men were being starved, beaten and brutalized. We care and we ask you to care. It can't be a business as usual attitude among the American public. As our men are so inhumanly treated, we must not forget them. If the life of any American is of value, the life of all are, if their lives have no value, neither will yours. Write to the representatives of foreign relations and to the press of those nations, to members of Congress and to Xuan Thuy, chief of North Viet Nam negotiations in Paris. The letters should also state that continued intransigence on the part of Hanoi will stiffen the resolve of the American public. Letters to members of Congress should call for a joint resolution demanding humane treatment for prisoners and missing men. Nothing less than your letters of outrage and demand will bring an end to the grossly inhuman treatment our men are receiving in the enemy's prison camps.

Write today — your letter could spell the difference between life and death for imprisoned American soldiers and sailors.

Summer Jobs Can Affect Social Security Benefits

Students Face Earnings Test

For half a million young recipients of social security benefits the beginning of summer is a critical time. These are the students, between 18 and 22, who must notify the Social Security Administration of their intention to return to school in the fall if they want to keep payments coming over the summer months. Ordinarily, benefits to children of disabled, deceased, or retired workers stop at 18. But beneficiaries who continue their education in an accredited university, college, high school, or a vocational school approved or licensed by the State are eligible for monthly checks up to the age of 22.

For these students, benefit payments can continue during a vacation period of not more than 4 months if the student was a full-time student before the period started and intends to return to full-time attendance after the period ends. By completing a Students Statement Regarding School Attendance form, normally sent to student beneficiaries about a month before the end of the school year, the student can ensure the continuance of his benefit payments during his vacation.

However, students who don't receive one of the forms by June 1 should contact their nearest social security office. If they fail to do so, their checks may be delayed. A student's earnings from a job or self-employment may affect his benefit payments.

The general rule is that a student can receive full benefit payments for all months of a year in which his earnings totaled $1,680 or less. If he earns more than this, some benefits will be withheld. Regardless of his total annual earnings, however, a student can receive a benefit for any month in which he neither earns wages of more than $140 nor performs substantial services in self-employment.

Family on — the farm employment in the United States has dropped from 11 million workers in 1940 to 4 1/4 million workers in 1969.

The only safe way to buy pesticides is to read the label to find out the active ingredients the package contains.

Of the approximately 3, 900,000 children and students receiving social security benefits, hundreds of thousands will take summer jobs. All will be financially better off because of this. But the amount and duration of their earnings can have an important effect on their benefits.

The two rules to recognize are these:

1. If total earnings for the year—both summer jobs and other part-time work—are more than $1,680, benefits for the year are reduced.
2. Regardless of total earnings, however, you can receive the full benefit in any month in which you earn no more than $140.

As a practical matter, there is unlikely to be a large reduction in benefits to students with part-time and summer jobs. Even if total earnings exceed $1,680, benefits are social security benefits than 1 do and some receive less. Why is this so? Why not pay all students a reasonable flat amount instead of varying our payments?

A. A good question. A basic principle of the social security program is to relate benefit amounts and contributions to earnings. In general, the higher the earnings cut by only $1 for every $2 of earnings between $1,680 and $2,880. Only for earnings above $2,880 are benefits reduced on a dollar-for-dollar basis. And since there's no reduction in benefits for any month in which earnings are $140 or less, workers in part time and summer jobs will probably get full benefits for most months of the year.

What should a student do who finds that his earnings are likely to top $1,680 for the year? He should get in touch with his nearest social security office and get a form to report his expected earnings. Benefits will then be reduced for the short period that his earnings are relatively high.

If he fails to do this he will have to make an adjustment after the end of the year. And this could turn out to be more of a hardship to the student than keeping earnings and benefits in proper balance as he works.

of a parent under social security, the higher the benefit for his dependents or survivors. Thus, the benefits reflect the level of living that the parent was able to achieve for himself and his family when he was working. By paying variable benefits, the program makes possible the payment of amounts that are meaningful to most beneficiaries and not just to those with low incomes.

Recognizing that the parent with low earnings has less margin for reduction in his income than does the parent with average or above-average earnings, the law provides that dependents or survivors of a worker with low average earnings will get benefits that are a higher percentage of those earnings.

JIMMY W. HOLLEY
for STATE
COFFEE COUNTY

Kindly permit me to discuss what I feel are some of my qualifications for this very important office. I am 25 years old and was graduated from college with a degree in political science with primary emphasis in governmental administration. I have studied law at Jones Law School. For the past 3 years I have taught school. I wish to extend my services to you by representing you in the State Legislature.

* While I am representative, there will be no new taxes placed on property owners in Coffee County.

* My professional ties will render to the entire educational program of Coffee County a strong and personal voice.

* Our county needs a local trade school to serve the residents of Coffee County. I plan to see that we get one.

* Much has been said with respect to Elba and Enterprise receiving industrial growth and development - this is good but I should also like to see other areas such as Kingston, New Brockton and rural communities receive their fair share of this development. As I have stated many times, I plan to work for all of Coffee County.

* All of us in Coffee County are proud of the Enterprise Junior College. The potential for development of this already established monument to the needs of education is clearly visible. Let me work to make this a four year college.

* We hear much about our natural resources and about air and water pollution. Our local conservation officials do an admirable job but need more personnel and financial aid. I intend to see that they get this added support.

* Our greatest natural resources are the minds of our children. Let me, a person who knows their problems, serve YOU in the State Legislature.

Catfish Businesses Are Rapidly Increasing

Catfish farming is an increasingly popular business in Alabama. Extension Wildlife Specialist Earl P. Kennamer says Alabama now ranks among the top five catfish producing states in the nation, with farm pond acreage continually increasing. In 1967, Alabama had 1,304 acres in catfish ponds. This increased to 2,248 acres in 1968. By January 1970, acreage had reached 3,371.

Now the open-pond method of production with ponds completely adapted to drain-out operations largely dominates the commercial production of catfish.

Kennamer adds that there may be some possibility for limited catfish production in floating baskets where waters can't be effectively drained or controlled.

A more promising future alternative is the growing of great numbers of catfish per acre in raceways where replacement of oxygen and disposal of carbon dioxide are continuous. Many cattlemen who grazed stocker calves on cool season crops last winter are debating whether to sell now or hold a few weeks longer. Extension Marketing Specialist Allen Brown says to consider several factors. If rate of gain and price are the major considerations, and grazing is plentiful, holding for at least another month will probably pay. Good healthy young cattle on lush spring grazing gain about two pounds a day. With the present storing demand for feedlot cattle, prices are expected to remain good the rest of this spring.

Brown adds that a comparison of April and May prices of 500-to-750 pound feeder steers reveals that over a five year period the average price was 61 cents per 100 pounds higher in May than in April.

The increase in farm production costs is caused by an increase in purchased inputs and hired labor.
